FROM THE EDITOR...

In last month's magazine, I expressed the hope that May would usher in some better (warmer) weather, but that has not happened. As I write this (on Ascension Day) the visage from my office window is dank and dreary, although given that is not quite so cold as late. We all need something to look forward to and we live in hope that, at least the weather can provide us with that! Maybe June will be better! Goodness knows, there is much in life to be worried about! On the one hand our brilliant scientists have developed vaccines to conquer the Covid menace, and we are all looking forward to some loosening of our severe restrictions in life, but even now there are wagging fingers, and lots of "but ifs."

Violence has flared up again in the Middle East, causing death and not only destruction of homes and businesses, but destruction of hope. We pray for a swift resolution of a dispute that does seem to be almost beyond resolution. A lot of faith and prayer is required here. Faith in God and peace rather than rhetoric and munitions.

It has been revealed that one of our "great" institutions has destroyed the lives of many of its loyal employees by placing too much faith in its fallible IT system against all manner of common-sense signals. Faith here is needed also, faith in the hundreds of loyal workers, rather than faith in computer systems. Humans are fallible, yes, but computer systems even more so, and they don't get sent to gaol! I work in IT so I know that computer systems are all subject to inherent and unexpected failures and need to be nursed, tended and often given a dose of reviving medicine. Ever since the invention of the electronic calculator, I have always checked what's on the screen with my own God-given common sense. We know that social media platforms are in one sense a great power for good, but we need to be aware that they are also used by the wicked and wrong-thinkers among us to spread alarm, despondency and despair! Are not our corporate "leaders" also aware of these things?

Fortunately, we in the faith, not only have prayer direct to the Ultimate CEO, but are surrounded by a host of witnesses to whom we can turn for sensible, godly and balancing advice and comfort.

I was heartened to attend a Confirmation Service in London a few days ago. Amongst the dozen or so (age range 20 to 70) was my beloved sister-in-law who has gently resisted our subtle nudgings over the last 30 years, but through her love of singing has, in recent times, come to embrace the faith that matters. Alleluia!

And so, into June, dear friends. I can't promise that the weather will be any better (but we secretly know it will), but we can at least meet our mates in the pub and give them a well-deserved hug. May God bless you and keep you and make His face shine upon you, and give you His peace. Amen.

THE MINISTER'S MESSAGE MOVING ON...

Dear Friends all across the parish,

After 12 wonderful years as vicar of Sunninghill and South Ascot, I'm writing my penultimate minister's message. Over the summer Rachael, the family and I will be moving to Knowle, South Birmingham, where I will be taking up the role of Associate Minister to Knowle Parish Church.

Our last Sunday in the parish will be Sunday 25th July with a service at 10am at St Michael's for the whole parish.

It's an exciting and timely move for us as a family and my new role will involve leading in the areas of Discipleship and Evangelism and also overseeing the youth and children's teams. Knowle is a large church of around 750 people and this role provides an opportunity for me to spend time specialising in the parts of ministry I really enjoy; a season to take a breath from the additional responsibilities of being vicar myself; and time to learn from an experienced and wise leader in the Vicar, Rev Geoff Langham.

In many ways the 12 years here seems to have flown by. Then, however, I remember that Rachael and I arrived when we were still in our 20s (just) and without children; and I think of all the ups and downs we've had during our time here; and I think of all the ways I've grown as a leader, priest, husband and father – it feels like we've been here all our lives.

Next month I'll share more about some of my favourite memories of our time here and some of what I think God might be saying to us as a parish but for now I'll leave you with some wisdom our new colleague Rev Vusi Mabuza shared with me this week – wisdom not just for vicars but for us all I think.

"The priestly life is like a bicycle, it balances best when it's on the move."

Whatever movement is going on in your life right now, I pray that you would hear God's guidance for the decisions you make and know his peace for the journey ahead.

Do join us on the 25th if you can and next month's magazine will include details of other leaving events.

With love and prayer,

POETRY CORNER

As readers of this magazine you have probably realised that I love poetry, but if you had to pin me down to my favourite poet, Betjeman would be very near the top of the list. I was fortunate enough to meet him at the age of 13 in 1963, when he visited All Souls church, a story I will relate at a later date. I told him I enjoyed reading and writing poetry, and he was full of encouragement that I should continue. He loved the architecture of Victorian buildings, and churches in particular were his passion; this is reflected in many of his poems. Living in the area we do, I am sure you are all familiar with the lines from one of his poems, Slough:

*Come friendly bombs and fall on Slough,
It isn't fit for humans now,
There isn't grass to feed a cow,
Swarm over death.*

As the poem continues, it is obvious he really dislikes the place, and has nothing good to say about it. The last verse reads:

*Come friendly bombs and fall on Slough,
To get it ready for the plough,
The cabbages are coming now,
The earth exhales.*

I understand that in 2006 Betjeman's daughter publicly apologised to the people of Slough for her father's poem!

Betjeman's love of churches shines through many of his poems, and he wrote about churches in London as well as throughout the country. He included church life in general. The congregation, the vicar, PCCs even the mice hiding in the kneelers! Nothing escaped!!! There is a delightful poem called Blame the Vicar, which begins:

*When things go wrong it's rather tame,
To find we are ourselves to blame,
It gets the trouble over quicker.
To go and blame things on the vicar.*

And ends:

*Highness or Lowness do not matter,
You are the church and must not scatter,
Cling to the sacraments and pray,
And God be with you every day.*

He loved trains and railways. On his visit to All Souls' I expected him to arrive in a large car, but of course he arrived from Waterloo by train. One of his poems, Parliament Hill Fields, encompasses his love of trams, trains and suburbia in just the first few lines,

*Rumbling under blackened girders,
Midland bound for Cricklewood,
Puffed its sulphur to the sunset,
Where that land of laundries stood.*

He was also a bit of a romantic, and his poems describing liaisons with various ladies from the home counties could verge on the risqué. Miss Joan Hunter Dunn is an example:

*Miss Joan Hunter Dunn, Miss Joan Hunter Dunn, Furnish'd and burnish'd by Aldershot sun,
What strenuous singles we played after tea,
We in the tournament – you against me.*

And it ends:

*And the scent of her wrap,
And the words never said, And the ominous,
ominous dancing ahead, We sat in the car park,
till twenty to one,
And now I'm engaged to Miss Joan Hunter Dunn.*

Many a Christmas Carol Concert audience has been entertained by Betjeman's poem Christmas. The last verse reads,

*No love that in a family dwells,
No carolling in frosty air,
Nor all the steeple – shaking bells,
Can with this single truth compare,
That God was man in Palestine,
And lives today in bread and wine.*

Although many of his poems were written in a light-hearted vein, he often related more serious thoughts to the reader. I end with a few lines from the poem, The Conversion of St Paul:

*But most of us turn slow to see,
The figure hanging on the tree,
And stumble on and blindly grope,
Upheld by intermittent hope,
God grant before we die, we all
May see the light as did St Paul.*

Betjeman wrote poetry to appeal to everyone, it reads easily, it rhymes and it has rhythm. Over the last few days, researching this article, I realised again how much I enjoy his poetry, and couldn't put the book down!!! I think that says it all!

TUESDAY ART PROJECTS

An Art Session in All Souls@ Church in South Ascot was started by Liz Moore three years ago. Until lockdown in March 2020, it was regularly attended by several keen amateur artists, aged from 20 to 90+!

One of our local unsung heroes is professional artist Susan Farrant (pictured). Every single week in the last 14 months, Susan has inspired us, via Whatsapp, to draw and paint, using many different media. Each Tuesday she has come up with creative ideas, keeping us occupied and absorbed.

We have been displaying our art on the Whatsapp page, where it's been positively judged by Susan, Liz and us all. As I write this, the sessions are taking place in the grounds of the Church, but hopefully, soon, we will be able to get back in, out of the wind! These art "classes" are completely free but you're sure to be tempted by the delicious cakes and hot drinks served in the café!

Liz and Susan would be delighted to welcome new artists. Call Liz on 07855 313 904 or just turn up on any Tuesday between 10am and 12 noon. Bring any art supplies you may have but just a pencil is a good start!

Thank you, Liz and Susan, you bring out the artist in all of us!

THE GILL LOVE BAND

Many of you will have been to a gig by the fabulous Gill Love Band, seven dedicated musicians singing and playing their hearts out, all for charity!

Over the last 8 years they have entertained the good citizens of this area in places like South Hill Park, the Cordes Hall, All Souls Church, the Memorial Hall in Holyport and many pubs and clubs.

After being a Member of the Sunningdale Savoy Chorus, Gill joined the South Hill Park Jazz Group as a vocalist, with her husband Tony on guitar, where they met the rest of the band. They started off by just jamming at home for the fun of it, and then in September 2014, to celebrate husband Tony's big birthday, they hired Jagz (by Ascot Railway Station), where they played a 45 minute gig for 110 invited guests. The wheel had turned and they were transformed into a semi-professional band! They needed a name; initially they were called 'Love& Us', but somehow it didn't seem to fit, so they became 'The Gill Love Band', much more straightforward!

Their first charity gig was for the British Lung Foundation at Cordes Hall in front of 120 people; and from that time on they decided that they would concentrate on playing for charity. They have performed for many high profile charity events, including a black tie evening for the Lions Club at The Windsor Racecourse helping to raise £6,500 for the Thames Valley Hospice, at Cordes Hall again for Mercy Ships and Youthline (I was there! It was brilliant!). Charities which have also benefited have been MIND, the local Air Ambulance, Thames Valley Adventure Playground, The Hope Trust, Inner Wheel Club of Ascot and the Rotary Club of Ascot. In all, in that short space of time, they have raised over £20,000 for charity.

The star of the show (although she disputes this) is vocalist Gill Love, a former BA Executive and a local Sunninghill resident of over 40 years; also in the band is Gill's husband Tony, who taught at Charters School, and is heavily involved in the Rotary Young Musicians Competition. The other members are Christine (Tenor Sax), Barry (Lead Guitar), David (Tenor & Soprano Sax) and token Geordie, Roger (Bass) and last but not least Andrew Last (percussion).

So, what of the future? Well, the CEO of South Hill Park have invited them to play on the Terrace on the 24th July from 2-4pm. This was a great event last September, it is totally free and the bar will be open so come along and bring a picnic for the park!

The Gill Love Band is hoping to enlarge their engagement list, going forward, and would be happy to play for Functions, Parties (even after-lockdown parties) Lunchtime Jazz, providing a range of music, from dinner jazz to dance tunes. So do call Gill on 07845 161342 or email thegillloveband@gmail.com if you have a private event in the offing. She tells me that they have their own sound system and lighting, full in-house technical support, and that everything is PAT tested. They have over 100 songs in their repertoire and play an eclectic mix of Jazz, Blues and Popular Music. So good luck to Gill and her Merry Music Makers. We hope to see a lot more of them!

GIRLGUIDING ASCOT SOUTH DISTRICT

If you are interested in Girlguiding either as a volunteer or to register your daughter then visit the website to find out more www.girlguiding.org.uk

1st SOUTH ASCOT RAINBOWS

Girlguiding Ascot South District is gradually beginning to look more normal, as well as outdoor activities we are now able to use our hut. Most of us are staying outside (except when it is raining) and choosing outdoor activities. If you feel like you would like to volunteer with us, now would be a good time, all our units are well staffed with experienced leaders who are willing to share their knowledge and skills.

1st South Ascot Rainbows are doing activities for their 'Have Adventures' theme which involves lots of exploring. Bug hunting was particularly enjoyed and the girls found an amazing selection of mini-beasts just by taking a very close look.

The Rainbows have continued to earn Badges. This term we have presented badges for construction and recycling to Alice which enabled her to complete her Silver Award. Well done Alice.

Penny Knight

BEAVERS [♣] 1st SOUTH ASCOT SCOUTS [♣] cubs [♣]

With some normality hopefully on the horizon all of our sections have been working within the Scouting Federations covid guidelines and getting the kids off Zoom and OUTSIDE!

Our Beavers section kicked off the term with a St Georges Day play, we then did pond dipping and bug hunting followed by a Star Wars inspired “May the 4th be with you” hike in Swinley Forest. I can only apologise for the singing, chanting and lightsaber induced chaos that descended on the serenity of Swinley but everyone had a great time climbing trees and flying around on the rope swing.

The Cubs also started the Term with a St George’s Day play and with the delivery of another Silver Award (the highest award at this level), well done Yeshas – lots of hard work and well deserved! The group did a local and well needed litter pick and also made a community map at Ascot Racecourse.

The Scouts went on a Mystery Trail around South Ascot, finding clues to find out who was the culprit of a (fictitious) theft from the Scout Hut. The group also had a Games night with some wide games and Capture the Flag on Ascot Heath. Then a 10-mile bike ride from the Scout Hut and through Windsor Great Park – when the rain cleared they were treated to a glorious evening to repay their efforts. Special mention to Mimi, who was ‘Queen of the Mountains’ for her efforts on the last hill they tackled in the Great Park and to Ava who dug deep to get out of her comfort zone for the longest bike ride she’s ever done.

Most excitingly of all we have just started an Explorer Scouts section on Wednesdays for 14-18 year olds. We have a great group already who are preparing for a 3 day hike, have made a fire in our new garden fire-pit and cooked themselves a meal with Army ration packs – which were actually pretty good!. If you’re interested in joining, contact Fiona on 07939 490475.

SOUTH ASCOT VILLAGE SCHOOL

The pupils in Years 5 and 6 at South Ascot Village School recently got the opportunity to visit Runway's End Outdoor Centre in Aldershot.

Having missed out on many occasions during lock down over the last year we grabbed the chance to send our pupils to this outward-bound center as soon as we were able. The pupils in Year 5 experienced rifle shooting, artificial caving and high rope crate stacking, whilst Year 6 enjoyed kayaking, climbing and archery. The activities tested their mental and physical abilities in equal measure. The children undertook the activities with great enthusiasm and showed determination to succeed in the challenging tasks, supporting each other along the way.

It was amazing to get out and about and enjoy the great outdoors once again!

South Ascot Village School is taking part in an award-winning behaviour change scheme to help more pupils walk to school.

From 4th May, South Ascot Village School will be taking part in WOW – the year-round walk to school challenge from Living Streets, the UK charity for everyday walking.

Over half of South Ascot Village School pupils regularly walk to school, but the school hopes to increase this further. When running WOW, schools see an average 23 per cent increase in pupils walking to school and a corresponding drop in car use; reducing congestion outside the school gates, increasing safety and helping in the fight against air pollution – all whilst children benefit from being more active.

With WOW, pupils log their daily journeys to school each day on the WOW Travel Tracker tool. Those who walk to school at least once a week for a month earn a WOW badge, with 11 to collect across the year.

Each year, the 11 WOW badges follow a new WOW theme, all of which are designed by pupils in Living Streets' annual badge design competition. This year's theme is INVENTIONS THAT CHANGED THE WORLD and will take WOW pupils on a year-round journey through time and across the globe, celebrating some of the greatest inventions ever created.

Martin Richardson

Joe Irvin, Chief Executive, Living Streets says:

"Walking to school is an easy way for children to fit more activity into their day. More children walking to school means fewer cars around the school gates - making them safer and cleaner places."

"WOW has increased walk to school rates in over 2,000 schools across the UK. It's simple to run and pupils love to take part. Just a few minutes of a teacher's day is needed to make a big difference. "We can't wait to see what a difference it makes to the health and happiness of more pupils this year."

Kate Rimell, Headteacher, says:

"The WOW initiative not only allows children to develop their fitness but an environmentally friendly attitude too" "We hope it will ease traffic outside the school gates and teach pupils vital road safety skills."

Living Streets

We are Living Streets, the UK charity for everyday walking.

We want to create a nation where walking is the natural choice for everyday, local journeys; free from congested roads and pollution, reducing the risk of preventable illnesses and social isolation. We want to achieve a better walking environment and to inspire people of all generations to enjoy the benefits the simple act of walking brings.

For 90 years we've been a beacon for walking. In our early days our campaigning led to the UK's first zebra crossings and speed limits. Now our campaigns and local projects deliver real change to overcome barriers to walking and our groundbreaking initiatives such as the world's biggest Walk to School campaign encourage millions of people to walk.

Learning through play is central to quality early childhood education. At St Michael's we know how important the first years of school are for children and their families. Our EYFS team, led by Miss Nicholson, pull out all the stops to involve parents in every stage of their child's journey during this landmark year. A perfectly encompassing, child focused curriculum ensures our children are encouraged to take part in a range of rich learning opportunities, that allow them to satisfy their innate curiosity and make valuable connections about the world in which they live.

The wonderful pictures are testament to the fun and excitement experienced during a day of learning with friends in Robin Class.

GOD'S GRACE

In 2013 an eighteen-year old Congolese girl travelled with her mother and Pastor Gregoire, on a challenging three day journey by boat and bus, all the way from Kinshasa in the DRC (Democratic Republic of the Congo) to the Mercy Ship docked in the port city of Pointe Noire in the much smaller Republic of Congo. Grace suffered from a huge facial tumour which had destroyed her teenage years. She was unable to find a surgeon in Kinshasa who could do the major operation she required but on board the Africa Mercy she met the amazing Dr Gary Parker who by then had devoted 25 years of his life using his surgical skills to give many others, like Grace, the hope of a future free from suffering and rejection. Just before her operation Grace was befriended by a teenage British girl, Iona, whose parents were long term Mercy Ships volunteers. Iona encouraged Grace during the long three months she was on the ship recovering from surgery. Their story was featured on CBBC (My Life Floating Hospital: www.dailymotion.com/video/x6v723x). Eight years later Grace now lives in Kinshasa with Pastor Gregoire and his family, her mother having sadly died three years before. The exciting news is that Grace, now aged 26, is soon to be married. To quote Dr Gary 'she now has her seat back at the table of the Human Race.'

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

DELIVERY CHALLENGES

I have been delivering 'The Magazine' for many years, sometimes with help from my wife and occasionally the grandchildren are roped in as well, 40 magazines, always to the same addresses. The job isn't physically too demanding, there is the collection from the Church porch, sometimes by bike or on foot, 40 magazines weigh a fair bit and when I arrive at the delivery point there are a plenty of slopes, steps and a few trip hazards as well, but I like the challenge. The driveways of some of the houses are only wide enough for the car, so it is real squeeze to get past the overgrown hedges to get to the front door. Nearly all the home owners have replaced their front doors and many have letter boxes like man traps, some of them at low level, it can take a good shove to get the magazine through the opening, if there is a dog on the other side the magazine gets snatched out of your hand. A few of the houses have the modern style boxes that are fitted outside the houses, easy to use and possibly more secure. But what of the front gardens? Several, paved over, provide the necessary parking but do nothing for the overall appearance, and there are many proud gardeners and some just leave their front gardens to nature, whatever that is. I don't get to meet my customers very often, but when I do, they are always complimentary, one resident, a retired RAF war time pilot said to me, 'I am not of your faith but I do look forward to reading the magazine'. By contrast, one other resident phoned the magazine editor to complain that the magazine I had delivered, had left the letter box partly open and allowed an unwelcome draught.

I think our Magazine is brilliant, it provides a real link between the Church and the community and I love those fascinating shots of historic Sunninghill.

George Spinks

A VIEW FROM THE GARDEN

Well Spring has had some beautiful days, but the nights have been chilly haven't they, so I've only just started to harden off some of my spring flower sowings and my hanging basket tomato plants. So, what do we mean by hardening off? When plants are kept warm and snug indoors or in a greenhouse their leaves are soft and thin and the stems soft, so they need to 'toughen' up a bit before they stay outside or their leaves can scorch and it's a bit of a shock. Put your young plants outside in the day and bring them back in at night for five or six nights and ensure all risks of frost have passed before leaving out.

The bluebells are almost over, I love the perfume, perhaps you have been lucky enough to walk through some bluebell woodlands over the last weeks. Bluebells are a great source of nectar for bees, butterflies, and hoverflies. They are best planted in shady areas, around trees or underneath shrubs where cool conditions intensify their colour. If you don't have any write on your calendar to plant some this autumn, they can take a few years to establish, but you won't be disappointed.

I have a few specimens of Dicentra more commonly known as 'bleeding heart' growing in my garden, you can see from the picture why they are so named. They have heart-shaped, rose-red and white flowers which hang from arching stems. There is also a white version called alba. Plant in partial shade in a sheltered spot in moist, humus rich soil. They can grow up to 0.5-1 metres in height and the same spread. They disappear in winter and start to show their new growth in the spring. I have just discovered (thanks to Alan Titchmarsh) if you pick one of the flowers and turn it upside down and gently pull the 'heart' apart you will see an image that represents a lady in a bathtub – try it, it made me giggle!

I have been harvesting radish and lettuce from the vegetable garden, things taste so nice when you have grown them yourself! I'm looking forward to my broad beans!

I have couple of wooden troughs that I grow herbs in and have chives, garlic chives, sage, mint, oregano, ginger rosemary, bergamot and lovage which all come up year after year. I have a large rosemary bush and bay tree in other parts of the garden too. I want to share my love of 'lovage', not a common herb but if you see one at the garden centre, I encourage you to purchase one. Lovage is an erect herb which can grow 1.5-2.5 metres tall with flowers being produced at the top of the stems. The leaves smell somewhat similar to celery when crushed and they make a fabulous soup. This is my mother's recipe; I ran out of potatoes once and replaced with sweet potatoes which I think tastes even better.

Take 2 tablespoons of butter and melt in a large saucepan and soften 1 large onion sliced and 1 clove of garlic sliced in the butter. Dice a large peeled potato (or 2 peeled sweet potatoes) and add to the pan with 1¾ pints of vegetable stock and salt to taste. Bring to the boil, turn down and add 1 large tablespoon of chopped lovage leaves and simmer for 15/20 minutes until your potato is cooked through. Using a stick blender or a liquidizer whizz all the ingredients together. Serve in bowls with a swirl of cream or natural yoghurt on the top.

IMPORTANT ADVICE FROM RBWM TRADING STANDARDS

PLANES, TRAINS, AND FAIRER DEALS

Many are turning their thoughts to a much-needed holiday, including travelling abroad. Yet, last year we saw travel firms attempting to break the law by refusing to pay refunds when trips were cancelled due to those pandemic travel rules and ever changing ‘safe lists’ of what Countries could be visited or not. From 17 May 2021 Government set out a new ‘green’ list and clarified rules about travelling.

The Regulator, namely the Competition and Markets Authority (CMA), has made sure the travel firms will play fair this year, so with a few tips to protect yourself you can confidently book package holidays again. Refunds will be quickly issued when due, and consumers will not be misled over their rights.

The CMA has taken significant action in relation to Teletext and secured refund commitments from LoveHolidays, Lastminute.com, Virgin Holidays, and TUI UK.

The TUI intervention includes First Choice, First Choice Holidays, Marella Cruises, Crystal Ski, Crystal, TUI Scene, TUI Lakes and Mountains and Skytours. They have now given a formal undertaking to provide better up-front information to consumers about refunds. Lastminute.com has issued over £7 million in refunds due to action taken by the CMA, and Teletext are currently facing court action unless they pay consumers the £7 million in refunds they are due. Some of the companies were putting unnecessary delays, burdens and hurdles in the way to stop consumers quickly and easily getting refunds they were due.

On 13 May 2021 the CMA published an open letter to all package holiday companies to remind them of their legal obligations and the need to ensure refund options are clear and accessible. A copy of this letter was also sent directly to the 100 package travel companies that they had received the most complaints about.

From March 2020 to April 2021, the CMA received over 23,000 complaints from consumers about refund issues relating to package holidays that could not go ahead due to the pandemic. In acknowledgement of this, the letter to the package travel sector sets out what businesses should provide and what customers can expect:

- Holidays cancelled by package holiday companies must be refunded within 14 days under the Package Travel Regulations (PTRs);
- Any offer of a refund credit note must be accompanied by the option of a full refund. Customers should be able to exchange their credit note for a refund at any time;
- People have a right to a full refund where they decide to cancel their package because unavoidable and extraordinary circumstances at the destination significantly affect the holiday they have booked or their travel there;
- If the FCDO (Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office) is advising against travel to the package holiday destination when the consumer is due to leave, that is, in the CMA's view, strong evidence that these unavoidable and extraordinary circumstances are likely to apply. If the consumer is refused a full refund, the package holiday company should fully explain why it disagrees that the holiday or travel is significantly affected.

So, the tips from Trading Standards are:

- Book a package holiday rather than separate components yourself as you get extra protection;
- Check guarantees and flexible booking terms for information on refunds, especially for what will happen if a country is moved from the green list to amber, or if lockdowns, quarantine or other disruption prevents travelling;
- Make part of the payment (£100 at least) on credit card for extra protection;
- If treatment feels unfair, or information seems misleading - report it;
- Check the latest green, amber and red list restrictions here: <https://www.gov.uk/travel-abroad>;
- Read up about the action already taken against travel firms and your rights at: www.gov.uk/cma-cases/covid-19-cancellations-package-holidays;

JOSEPH WRIGHT OF DERBY PAINTER OF THE INDUSTRIAL REVOLUTION SCOTT ANDERSON

TUESDAY 8 JUNE 2021
AT THE ARTS SOCIETY - ENGLEMERE
7:30 FOR 7:45PM

The developments in art, industry, science, technology and social behaviour in the 18th century laid the foundations of the modern Britain that we know today. This was the age of the Enlightenment and of the Industrial Revolution. This was also the age of Joseph Wright of Derby who painted the very spirit of that time. Scott Anderson will consider Wright's exceptional paintings of both industrial scenes and the many associated characters, such as Sir Richard Arkwright and Erasmus Darwin who were Wright's subjects and friends.

Scott Anderson trained as an archaeologist at Leicester University and was a professional archaeologist for ten years before his interests shifted to the world of art, antiques and auctioneering. In 1994 he joined the team at Southampton Solent University and now as a Senior Lecturer, he teaches courses on the history and theory of interior design and visual culture. For the last few years he has also worked as a consultant valuer for the BBC television programme 'Flog It'.
